Théo Rossier

Français: Théo Rossier est né le 11.06.2002 en Suisse dans le canton de Vaud. Il commence la musique à l'âge de 6 ans par le cornet avant de passer à la trompette quelques années plus tard. En 2016, il commence à s'intéresser à la composition et écrit en autodidacte jusqu'en 2019. C'est au conservatoire de Lausanne qu'il débute des cours d'harmonie dans le cadre de la direction d'ensemble à vent. En 2021, sa pièce « Celui qui chuchotait dans les ténèbres » a été sélectionnée par l'orchestre de chambre de Lausanne pour être enregistrée lors d'un projet de promotion des compositeurs suisse durant la pandémie.

En 2022, il remporte le premier prix du concours européen de composition pour Brass Band avec sa pièce Stendhal's Syndrome, dont la première a eu lieu au Townhall de Birmingham interprétée par le Grimethorpe Colliery Band. Il poursuit actuellement sa formation de direction d'orchestre à vent au conservatoire de Fribourg avec Jean-Claude Kolly et est également étudiant à la Hochschule der Künste Bern en bachelore de composition dans la classe de Xaver Dayer.

English: Théo Rossier was born on 2002 June 11, in the Swiss canton of Vaud. He began playing music at the age of 6 on the cornet before switching to the trumpet a few years later. In 2016, he started taking an interest in composition and continued to write on his own until 2019. It was at the Lausanne Conservatoire that he began taking wind ensemble conducting classes. In 2021, his piece 'Celui qui chuchotait dans les ténèbres' was selected by the Lausanne Chamber Orchestra to be recorded as part of a project to promote Swiss composers during the pandemic. In 2022, he won first prize in the European Brass Band Composition Competition with his piece "Stendhal's Syndrome", which premiered at Birmingham Town Hall by the Grimethorpe Colliery Band.

He is currently studying wind band conducting at the Conservatoire de Fribourg with Jean-Claude Kolly and is also studying composition at the Hochschule der Künste Bern with Xaver Dayer.

Percussion:

Les sifflets doivent être portés autour du cou afin de pouvoir jouer avec les baguettes en même temps ou changer d'instruments

Le petit gong sert uniquement à créer un effet de water gong, il doit donc être accompagné d'une petite bassine. Il peut être remplacé par un petit tam-tam également.

Présentation de la pièce :

Spaceship to Paradise est une pièce décrivant en trois mouvements une possible exode de l'humanité vers l'espace :

I. A (not too) Macabre Dance

Ce premier mouvement image l'exploitation de notre planète et sa destruction. On retrouve ces éléments notamment dans l'inspiration minimaliste par l'utilisation d'un motif repris en boucle avec peu de variations. Cette partie se développe donc ainsi jusqu'à une fin abrupte et quasiment inattendue.

II. Lost

Les survivants se retrouvent maintenant perdu dans l'immensité de l'espace en quête d'une planète habitable. La musique laisse place à une ambiance beaucoup plus calme et mystérieuse. Malheureusement, à la suite du climax du mouvement, le thème principal réapparaît et termine brutalement cette partie par les sifflets et les cris imageant un atterrissage.

III. An Artificial Paradise

Nos colons sont désormais sur une nouvelle planète et créent leur propre paradis. Cependant, ce paradis artificiel engendre une allégresse superficielle quasiment détraquée qui les mènera à nouveau à une fin violente.

Malgré la thématique très sérieuse de la pièce, l'objectif est d'en faire un objet satirique et très second degré. Cet aspect ressort particulièrement dans le troisième mais doit être présent tout du long. Notamment à travers les différentes indications de mise en scène qui vise entre autres à donner une présence « théâtrale » à l'ensemble sur scène.

Nota bene :

I.

Mes.21-22 / 108 /114 :

Notes triangulaires : Baisser ou levez l'instrument.

Notes rondes avec une croix : Tourner à gauche ou à droite la tête.

Ces mouvements doivent être quasiment robotique.

Pause env.5-10 secondes

II.

Mes.1-13 :

Wind effect : Les effets de vents peuvent être fait en soufflant dans l'instrument, en se frottant les mains ou autres.

Whisper : Les chuchotements doivent créer un fond sonore comme une petite foule sans que l'on comprenne nécessairement les paroles. Le moment ff doit être quasiment crié comme une foule en colère.

Mes.92 :

Comme il n'y a pas de pause entre ces deux mouvements, les percussionnistes doivent changer d'instruments en même temps qu'ils sifflent et que l'ensemble crie. Le point d'orge doit être le plus court possible. Si besoin, des personnes de l'ensemble peuvent également siffler afin d'éviter des trous lorsque les percussionnistes doivent respirer.

Perkussion:

Die Pfeifen müssen um den Hals getragen werden, um gleichzeitig mit den Sticks spielen oder die Instrumente wechseln zu können.

Der kleine Gong dient nur dazu, einen Wassergong-Effekt zu erzeugen, daher sollte er von einer kleinen Schüssel begleitet werden. Er kann ebenfalls durch ein kleines Tamtam ersetzt werden.

Vorstellung des Stücks :

Spaceship to Paradise ist ein Stück, das in drei Sätzen einen möglichen Exodus der Menschheit in den Weltraum beschreibt:

I. A (not too) Macabre Dance

Dieser erste Satz stellt die Ausbeutung unseres Planeten und seine Zerstörung dar. Diese Elemente finden sich insbesondere in der minimalistischen Inspiration durch die Verwendung eines Motivs, das in einer Schleife mit wenigen Variationen wiederholt wird. Dieser Teil entwickelt sich also auf diese Weise bis zu einem abrupten und fast unerwarteten Ende.

II. Lost

Die Überlebenden befinden sich nun verloren in den Weiten des Weltraums auf der Suche nach einem bewohnbaren Planeten. Die Musik weicht einer viel ruhigeren und mysteriöseren Atmosphäre. Leider taucht nach dem Höhepunkt des Satzes das Hauptthema wieder auf und beendet diesen Teil abrupt mit Pfeifen und Schreien, die eine Landung darstellen.

III. An Artificial Paradise

Unsere Siedler befinden sich nun auf einem neuen Planeten und erschaffen ihr eigenes Paradies. Allerdings erzeugt dieses künstliche Paradies eine fast schon verkorkste oberflächliche Fröhlichkeit, die sie erneut zu einem gewaltsamen Ende führen wird.

Trotz der sehr ernsten Thematik des Stücks ist es das Ziel, es satirisch und sehr zweitklassig zu gestalten. Dieser Aspekt tritt besonders im dritten Teil hervor, soll aber durchgehend präsent sein. Insbesondere durch die verschiedenen Hinweise zur Inszenierung, die unter anderem darauf abzielt, dem Ensemble eine "theatralische" Präsenz auf der Bühne zu verleihen.

Nota bene:

I.

Mes.21-22 / 108 /114 :

Dreieckige Noten: Das Instrument senken oder heben.

Runde Noten mit einem Kreuz: Drehen Sie den Kopf nach links oder rechts.

Diese Bewegungen sollten fast roboterartig sein.

Pause ca.5-10 Sekunden.

II.

Mes.1-13 :

Wind effect: Windeffekte können durch Blasen des Instruments, Reiben der Hände oder Ähnliches erzeugt werden.

Whisper: Das Flüstern soll eine Geräuschkulisse wie eine kleine Menschenmenge erzeugen, ohne dass man unbedingt den Text versteht. Der ff-Moment soll quasi wie eine aufgebrachte Menge geschrien werden.

Mes.92:

Da es zwischen diesen beiden Sätzen keine Pause gibt, müssen die Schlagzeuger die Instrumente wechseln, während sie pfeifen und das Ensemble schreit. Der Gerstenpunkt sollte so kurz wie möglich sein. Falls nötig, können auch Personen aus dem Ensemble pfeifen, um Lücken zu vermeiden, wenn die Schlagzeuger atmen müssen.

III.

Percussion:

The whistles must be worn around the neck so that you can play the drumsticks at the same time or change instruments.

The small gong is only used to create a water gong effect, so it must be accompanied by a small basin. It can also be replaced by a small tom-tom.

Presentation of the piece:

Spaceship to Paradise is a three-movement piece describing a possible exodus of humanity into space:

I. A (not too) Macabre Dance

This first movement depicts the exploitation and destruction of our planet. These elements are echoed in the minimalist inspiration through the use of a motif repeated in a loop with few variations. The piece thus develops to an abrupt and almost unexpected end.

II. Lost

The survivors now find themselves lost in the vastness of space in search of a habitable planet. The music gives way to a much calmer, more mysterious atmosphere. Unfortunately, following the climax of the movement, the main theme reappears, bringing this section to an abrupt end with the whistles and shouts of a landing.

III. An Artificial Paradise

Our colonists are now on a new planet and creating their own paradise. However, this artificial paradise engenders an almost deranged superficial glee that will once again bring them to a violent end.

Despite the play's very serious theme, the aim is to make it satirical and very much in the second degree. This aspect is particularly apparent in the third part, but is present throughout. This is particularly apparent in the third section, but must be present throughout, not least in the various stage directions, which aim to give the whole play a "theatrical" presence on stage.

Nota bene :

I.

Mes.21-22 / 108 /114:

Triangular notes: Lower or raise the instrument.

Round notes with a cross: Turn the head left or right.

These movements should be almost robotic.

Pause approx.5-10 seconds

II.

Mes.1-13 :

Wind effect: Wind effects can be done by blowing into the instrument, rubbing hands or other.

Whisper: Whispers should create a background sound like a small crowd without the words necessarily being understood. The ff moment should be almost shouted like an angry crowd.

Mes.92:

As there is no pause between these two movements, the percussionists should change instruments at the same time as they whistle and the ensemble shouts. The barley point should be as short as possible. If necessary, members of the ensemble can also whistle to avoid gaps when the percussionists have to breathe.
